Native of Mexico City, Enriquez carried on more than 25 years of experience at award-winning hotels, restaurants, and golf clubs.

Enriquez received a degree in Hotel Business at the Escuela Panamericana de Hoteleria and has been trained by numerous international prestigious companies such as Pedro Domecq, Pernod Ricard, Bacardi, and Casa Madero winery and has three certifications in Tequila, Mezcal, and Cuban Cigars.

Enriquez's passion for food, wine, cigars & spirits is extremely apparent. His food and wine pairings are consistently stirring. Producing wine, tequila, mezcal, Mexican spirits, and cocktail menus is one of his numerous talents, always considering the local heritage and fresh ingredients that characterize his touch.

Jorge Mitchel Villaseñor

Sommelier

Jorge has over 20 years of experience collaborating in high-end hotels and restaurants which led him to a prestigious award in the Wine Spectator publication.

His passion for wines arises from memory, as each bottle takes him back to a childhood surrounded by fruits whose acidity refreshes the palate while the atmosphere is perfumed by flowers, wet soil, crisp leaves, his grandfather's coffee and tobacco. This nostalgia and affection can be seen in the composition of his pairings and the way in which he guides the tastings.

In addition to his active role in the Food and Beverage industry, Jorge Mitchell is the founder of Vinos para Compartir - a company dedicated to expanding the culture of wine from a collaborative space. Through this platform, he conducts online tastings, training and a wine club that seeks to taste unique grapes.
